What is it?

Introduction to Trust for Leaders is a 60-90 minute interactive workshop to review the role of trust in organizations, its importance in delivering powerful results and ways of improving it. The conversation will be led by one or more partners of Triscendence.

Who is it designed for?

The program is for leaders who have responsibility for delivering exceptional results and who are looking to increase their effectiveness. Participants may be from any type of organization or role. This includes those who work as consultants and coaches to leaders. The program may be tailored on request for intact work or leadership teams to address their specific concerns.

Why is it needed?

The ability to build trust is considered to be the single most important leadership competency. With trust the work of organizations speeds up, and without trust it slows down. Yet we often find it difficult to talk about trust, to recognize how, where and why it may be missing and to work to create an environment where trusting and productive partnerships can flourish.

Workshop Structure

The format of the workshop is flexible to meet the needs of the participants, and will consist of the following:

- Introduction to the distinctions (language) of trust
- Time for participants to share their experiences
- Role of trust in delivering on commitments

Promises of the Workshop

As a result of the workshop, the participants will be able to:

- Identify issues of trust in their organizations
- Discuss breakdowns of trust with their colleagues
- Specific strategies for building trust in their own organizations

Workshop Components

Introduction to Trust for Leaders includes the following:

- The 5 conversations of leadership
- Definitions of trust
- Assessments of trust
- Attentiveness to trust
- Actions to build, maintain and restore trust
